iGO Sets the Quality for Power Solutions With New Line of Portable Battery Products Rechargeable Portable Batteries Keep Your Favorite Devices Powered On the Go

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz., Dec. 6, 2012 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- iGO (Nasdaq:IGOI) announced today the launch of a new portable battery line that brilliantly embodies the company's reinvigorated design philosophy, which was rolled out last month. Designed and engineered for a variety of devices, including smartphones and tablets, the iGO portable batteries are compact and easy-to-use power solutions for people on the go.

"The goal with the newly refined identity of iGO is to capture the energy of our customers and accurately provide them with products to complement their mobile lifestyles," said Phil Johnson, VP of Product Development, iGO. "The iGO portable battery products embody this goal by ensuring that smartphones, tablets, and e-readers always have access to power."

The stylish iGO Portable Battery products provide power to devices such as smartphones and tablets. There's no need to search for a wall outlet – this product works without being plugged into a power source. The compact design allows the iGO Portable Battery to fit easily into your pocket or purse, and all models are engineered to work with most USB power cables.
